NUMB. 2569

SATURDAY SEPTEMBER 3. 1743.

Madrid, August 13.

HE Grandees and principal Nobility of both Sexes are set out this Day for St. Ildefonso, where they will celebrate To-morrow the Anniversary of the Birth of Madame the Infant of France, who was born August the 14th, 1727. The Report grows stronger and stronger upon us every Day, of a total Change in the Ministry; but with this Alteration, that the Duke of Montemar is no longer talk'd of. We apprehend, at present, that M. Jover, who is now Resident in Switzerland, will be recalled, and put at the Head of the Finances; the Marquis de Ustarias, who was First Clerk to the Marquis de Castillar, is to be intrusted with the Management of Military Affairs; and the Marquis de la Encenada will still keep the Marine and the Indies. We rais'd, and are to raise every Month, in the Proportion of three to two, the Remittances made to the Army in Savoy; and these Remittances are now so fix'd, as that there can be no Danger of their being duly paid so long as the War shall continue. All our Advices from Italy assure us, that the Army is augmented one half since it was commanded by the Duke of Modena, and since the Publication of a general Pardon; and that it consists, at present, of 18,000 as good Troops as any in the World. There has lately arriv'd in the Port of Bayonne a Register Ship from Vera Cruz and the Havanna, with 12 Million of Pieces of Eight on board, on the Account of the King, and the Trade taken together. This Ship has likewise brought in two English Prizes, valued together at 120,000 Pieces of Eight.

Berlin, August 27. The Marquis de Valori, Envoy Extraordinary from his most Christian Majesty, gave, the Day before Yesterday, a grand Entertainment on the Feast of St. Lewis, at which there were abundance of Persons of Distinction, and Foreign Ministers; but it does not appear, by the Guests upon that Occasion, that his Excellency has any such Interest here as the World imagines. Besides, as the King declared the other Day in publick, that her Hungarian Majesty had fully satisfied him in respect to Silesia, the Country of Glatz, and their Dependancies, we can scarce imagine that any Steps taken here can give Umbrage at Vienna, because that would undo all that is already done; and there is now far less Reason to expect that his Majesty should be a greater Gainer by a new War, than there was, when he began the last. Add to all this, that nothing can be more visible than that the Courts of Russia and Poland are strictly united with the Queen of Hungary; so that if she was attack'd on this Side, it would not at all benefit the Emperor, or create any Diversion in Favour of France, but perhaps quite the contrary; for such a Proceeding would justify the Language at present used towards France, and bring many other Powers into the Alliance. On the whole therefore, it is the general Opinion here, that his Majesty's Inclinations are quite mistaken by those who suppose him to have chang'd his Notions, and to be at present no Friend to the House of Austria.

Brussels, September 3. We lately received a Courier from the Army of the Allies, who brought Orders, that the English Artillery and Ammunition, already arrived here, should remain for the present, and be transported, as it was intended, to Namur; as also, that what still remained at Ostend, should continue there till further Orders. On this Account, all Illuminations and Fire-works were forbidden, on account of the Queen, our Sovereign's safe Delivery, for fear some Accident should happen while such a vast Quantity of Powder was in this City. According to private Letters from Dunkirk, the French work hard upon the new Fortifications there; and that, according to a Plan lately sent down from Paris, it appears, that they intend to fortify it first on the Land Side, and then to restore the Works towards the Sea.

Paris, September 5. Our Archbishop has lately caus'd Instructions to be pasted up in all the Vestries in his Diocese, requiring every Priest, when he says Mass, to make use of the Prayers appointed to implore of Almighty God the Restoration of Peace, and the defending us from the present Pestilence. We begin, next Tuesday, to draw again the Militia at Versailles; and, on Tuesday last, M. d'Argenson dispatch'd a Courier to Alsace, to acquaint the Marquis d'Grenay, Lieutenant-General of the King's Armies, and Inspector of the Cavalry, that his Majesty had been pleased to appoint him a Marshal of France. It is said, that the Regiment of French Guards has been given to the Count de Clermont Tonnere, Lieutenant-General. It appears from all the Preparations that are carrying on here, as well as from the Language made use of at Court, that War occupied the Thoughts of the Ministry entirely; and that they begin to be thoroughly sensible such an Alliance is form'd for reducing the Power of France, as will demand all her Power to resist. The Friends of M. Broglio have been given to understand, that his Majesty cannot, consistent with the Respect due to the Emperor, his Ally, employ his Excellency for the present.

Hague, September 7. According to our last Advices from the Army of the Allies, which were of the 1st of this Month, it look'd as if the King of Great Britain had carried his Point, and that M. Noailles would be obliged to retire without Fighting. According to private Advices from Franckfort, Things are in very great Confusion there, on account of the Emperor's pretending to stir again with his Troops; upon which, it has been intimated to him, that nothing could at this Juncture be so fatal to his Interests, as rekindling a War in the Empire. There are abundance of warm Papers handed about here, in Justification of the Provinces who have protested against the present War; and it is thought, that some of them have fallen from the Pen of the French Minister, because the Concerns of that Crown are treated in them with such Warmth, as is altogether unnatural to a Dutch Man.

At Jamaica, the Mary, Bird, from London.

LONDON.

Private Letters from Copenhagen say, that the People murmur excessively at the mighty Taxes laid upon them, to defray the Expences of the present Armament; the rather, because there is a sort of total Stagnation of Trade, and, it is apprehended, that the Russians will soon enable the Swedes to return this Compliment of an Invasion.

It is still very confidently given out at Paris, that a Negotiation is coming on between the Courts of Madrid and Turin, under a French Mediation; but it is more than probable, that this is given out to keep up the Spirits of the People, who are terribly alarmed at the Thoughts of having Enemies on all Sides.

There has likewise been a Report spread at Paris, that his Royal Highness, Prince Charles of Lorrain, went to Basle, in order to ask Leave of the Helvetick Body to march with the Army through their Territories, which had been refused him. This Report is calculated to serve the same Purposes as the former.

The Anne, Marshal, is arriv'd at Plymouth from Jamaica; she came out with the Fleet, but sprung a Leak, and put back. Four Days after she sail'd again, but saw nothing of them. In the Windward Passage she spoke with Capt. Renton in the Rippon Man of War, who told him that he saw nothing of the Fleet.

Extract of a Letter from Malaga, August 13, 1743.

'Since I've Occasion to write to you, I am Sorry I 'have not a Subject more pleasing to entertain you with. 'The present is only to advise you of Capt. John Jardine, 'of the John, of London, being brought in here Cap-'ture by the St. Pedro, a Cruizer of 20 Guns, 16 Swivels, 'and 120 Men; he was taken the 5th Instant, after a 'gallant Resistance of upwards of six Hours Fight, which 'began at Six in the Afternoon, and was ended at 'Twelve. The Battle was most tenaciously fought by 'both Sides, and, it is generally believ'd, that had Capt. 'Jardine but a few more Men, the Scale would have 'been turn'd for him; for with the Few he had, he 'made the Enemy retire, after three Times that they 'boarded him; who really admir'd how so small a Num-'ber cou'd so promptly load and discharge their Guns, 'and manage their Ship; insomuch, that they have 'compared them in Valour to so many Lions; and, in-'deed, believed they shou'd not have conquer'd, had not 'the Captain been dangerously wounded, at the Begin-'ning of the Battle, with two Bullets; which he re-'ceived, one in his Right Arm, and the other in his Left, 'and stuck in his Left Side, where it remains. His 'Mate and a Sailor were also dangerously wounded, but 'hope they will all recover; for the Surgeons give great 'Hopes, and think the Captain past Danger. They are 'all duly attended in the King's Hospital. The Privateer 'had four or five Men kill'd, and about 15 wounded; 'and his Vessel so ill treated, that she'd want near a 'Month's Time to repair.'

Last Week died in Yorkshire, Mr. Dealtry, Surveyor of Houses in the East Part of that County; which Place is in the Gift of the Lords of the Treasury.

On Thursday Morning died at Battersea, Mrs. White, Wife to ——— White, Esq; aged near Ninety, and had been married to him upwards of 60 Years.

Yesterday being the Anniversary of the Fire of London, which happen'd in the Year 1666, the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor, and Aldermen, went with the usual Formality to St. Paul's, and heard a Sermon suitable to the Occasion.

On Wednesday Morning, about Four o'Clock, a melancholy Accident happen'd at the Crown Inn at Egham; a Gentleman's Servant that lay there, going into the Yard with a Setting Dog, two large Mastiffs, which are kept on purpose to watch the Waggons in the Night, seiz'd on the Dog, which the Man endeavouring to save, the Dogs tore them both to pieces.

Last Thursday Night, about 11 o'Clock, a Private Centinel of Col. Bagnell's Company, of the First Regiment of Foot Guards, who was placed at the Silver Scullery Door at St. James's, talking to one of his Comrades then on Duty, his Hand being on the Muzzle of his Piece, it accidentally went off, and shatter'd it to pieces. He was afterwards carried to the Infirmary in Petty-france, Westminster.

Last Thursday Morning died the Right Hon. the Countess of Ailsford, at his Lordship's Seat near Guilford, in Surry.

The same Night a Fire broke out at the Swan Inn without Bishopsgate, but by the speedy Assistance of the Firemen, the same was soon extinguish'd, without doing much Damage.
